

GRIZZLEY GAZETTE, 2nd Edition

September 2024

Dear Gridley Families,

Our first month for students has been challenging as they learn to adapt to the new school year, their class schedule and getting to know their teachers after the summer break. The beginning of the school year brings with it a fresh slate, new opportunities, and the promise of growth and learning. Whether it's a child's very first day of school, a transition to a new grade, or the final year before graduation, each stage holds its unique challenges and triumphs.

I would also like to share information on the Academic Parent Teacher Conferences, which will be held this month. Our teachers will be sending out information to schedule a meeting with your student's teacher. This is a great opportunity for you to get in-depth information about your student's academic progress as well as information about how you can help support them at home. In this meeting you and your student will work together to set academic progress goals so that they have a vision of what they want to achieve this year. We look forward to having your join us for this meeting and in working together to support your student's academic success!

Best regards,

Mrs. Rosanna Ortiz-Montoya
